Itinerary Feature: George Washington’s Mount Vernon, Pentagon, National Cathedral, International Spy Museum and Madam Tussauds Wax Museum

In the morning, we will visit the Pentagon and 911 Memorial, where the United States Department of Defense is located with passing by Arlington Cemetery. After that, we will head to George Washington’s Mount Vernon. After the death of his older half-brother, Lawrence, in 1752, George Washington took up residence at the house that his father, Augustine Washington, had built in 1735. Here, he was notified as the first President at the age of 57. The interiors have been meticulously restored to their appearance in 1799. The next stop will be the National Cathedral, the sixth largest cathedral over the worldwide. In the afternoon, we will next visit the International Spy Museum. It is the only public museum in the United States solely dedicated to espionage and the only one in the world to provide a global perspective on an all-but-invisible profession that has shaped history and continues to have a significant impact on world events. After visiting of spy museum, we will go to Madam Tussauds Wax Museum in the end, which not only has world class “celebrities”, but also collects all the figures of American Presidents in history since George Washington.
