Day3 Washington D.C. – Hometown

In the morning we will go to Virginia to see the Pentagon, the U.S. Department of Defense, from outside. In front of the Pentagon, it's the National 911 Pentagon Memorial. After that, we will head to George Washington’s Mount Vernon. After the death of his older half-brother, Lawrence, in 1752, George Washington took up residence at the house that his father, Augustine Washington, had built in 1735. Here, he was notified of becoming the first President at the age of 57. The interiors have been meticulously restored to their appearance in 1799. The next stop will be the Arlington Cemetery where about three hundred thousand military rest in peace. Famous General Robert E. Lee’s home is located at a prominent hill nearby. It’s a Greek revival style mansion, formerly named the Custis-Lee Mansion. At Tomb of the Unknown Soldier, we have the chance to observe the guard changing ritual. Tomb of the Unknown Soldier is the only guarded place, guards changing every one hour (every half hour during March 15 to September). In the afternoon, we will go to the International Spy Museum, which is the only museum that only exhibits spy related contents. It shows a large amount of Spy equipment collected from all over the world. Moreover, there is a James Bond series movie exhibition in the museum. Visitors will find the history of the series movie, and excellent Spy equipment of James Bond, even including the classical Bond vehicles: a Jaguar and an Aston Martin.
